Rationale

The Irish Association for Counselling and Psychotherapy (IACP) was established in 1981, to identify, develop and maintain professional standards of excellence in counselling and psychotherapy. IACP's work promotes best practice and the development of the profession as well as safeguard the public. Accreditation helps to ensure that practitioners are appropriately qualified and work to recognised standards of professional competence. Accreditation also assures the client that the practitioner will work within an agreed ethical framework and code of practice.

This policy is intended as a living document. Please note, this document may be periodically updated in order to ensure the most current practices are in place. When referring to the IACP Accreditation Policy, be sure it is the most current version available on the IACP website.

First Time Accreditation Requirements

To apply for IACP First Time Accreditation an applicant must:

1. Be covered by professional indemnity insurance.
2. Have applied for IACP Garda Vetting.
3. Have completed a core Accredited Counselling / Psychotherapy Course or equivalent.
4. Have completed 450 hours of client contact work with an Accredited Supervisor (IACP, BACP, or IAHIP) after completion of 100 trainee hours required on the course (* 120 hours for courses commencing on and from 1st September 2020)

Students can start counting 450 hours towards accreditation after the full completion of the currently required 100 hours even if they are still in training on the accredited courses.

Students are not required to change their Supervisor while in training. Members have a choice to continue with their existing supervisors after completion of the core course (receipt of final transcript of results or graduation).

Students must have completed a minimum of 2 academic years on the course and finished the required 50 hours of personal therapy before they start counting the 450 hours. It is the course provider's responsibility to manage all client work while in training. IACP recognise supervision with IACP, BACP or IAHIP* Accredited Supervisors only.

A) The 450 hours of client contact work must cover a variety of presenting issues

B) Complete one hour of supervision for every 10 hours of client contact work.

Frequency: Individual Supervision must take place at least once a month when the Counsellor / Psychotherapist is actively seeing or available to see clients

C) Applications for First Time Accreditation may be accepted between the period of 1 year and 5 years following the successful completion of a core course. In special circumstances an applicant may apply in writing to have their application for Accreditation considered where more than 5 years have elapsed, but this will be at the discretion of the Accreditation Committee. If you are seeking this discretion, please submit a letter with your application explaining why you have not submitted an application within the 1 to 5 year period. If the applicant has taken parental leave during this time period, one additional year can be granted to the allotted timeframe.

D) Client work for the purpose of First Time Accreditation may include couple, family or group Counselling / Psychotherapy hours up to 25% of the required 450 post-trainee hours.

E) A maximum of 50% of the hours out of the overall 450 post-trainee hours may consist of remote / online work provided the applicant is competent to work remotely (please see IACP Criteria for Remote / Online Counselling & Psychotherapy).

F) Up to 25% of the 450 hours required for the purpose of First Time Accreditation can be with clients who are under 18, if all the criteria and competencies listed in the Standards for Working with Under 18s are met. There must be proof provided of completion of a minimum certificate level additional qualification to work with children & adolescents that encompasses the following modules/themes:

- Child Development
- Atypical psychology
- Neurodevelopment of the brain
- Play skills for the therapist and techniques for working with children
- Legal Training/Children's Rights/Child Protection Policy/Child Welfare/Consent/Report
- Writing
- Systemic issues/working with parents/guardians/care-givers
- Personal therapy/Group process
- Working with disabilities/special needs clients
- Practical element in training required under strict supervision

The onus is on the applicant to comply with the Standards for Working with Under 18s if the applicant counts such hours towards IACP Accreditation. A copy of the certificate will be required from an applicant at the time of applying for First Time Accreditation as a proof of holding an additional qualification to conduct this type of work.

G) A Supervisors Report is required from each Supervisor listed on the application form. The Supervisors Reports may be sent directly to IACP by the Supervisor, or may be enclosed by the applicant along with the application form.

The applicant should download the Supervisors Report Form and give a copy to each Supervisor. The Report Form should be completed collaboratively by the Supervisor and Supervisee and signed off by the Supervisor.

H) Applicants should have been in on-going supervision with the same Accredited Supervisor (IACP, BACP or IAHIP) for at least 12 months immediately prior to applying.

I) In the Pre-Accreditation period, a minimum of 45 hours of supervision is required to comply with the ratio of 1 hour supervision to 10 counselling hours. Within this 45 hours, 11 supervision hours can be met by group supervision.

Non IACP Accredited Course

If the core course completed is not an IACP Accredited Course, it is at the discretion of the Accreditation Committee to evaluate whether it meets criteria.

As of 12 June 2015: courses may be combined to make up a core course. These two courses must be completed within 5 years of each other.

Following are minimum course requirements for applicants for accreditation who apply before September 2024:

The main elements of the Core Course Criteria are as follows:

- A) Minimum of at least two years full or part time duration
- B) Minimum of 100 hours of supervised individual client work. The student's external supervisor must not be a member of the course staff.
- C) At least one hour of Supervision from an external supervisor for every five hours of client contact. In addition, the course must include group supervision once students begin client practice hours (please check Course Accreditation Criteria for the details of external individual and internal group supervision requirements).

- E) A detailed study of one core theoretical model of Counselling/Psychotherapy with an introduction to other theoretical models of Counselling/Psychotherapy for comparison and contrast

As of 12 June 2015: where the applicant has completed a course or combination of two courses, which meet the IACP Core Course criteria in all respects except for the inclusion of 50 hours of personal therapy, then personal therapy taken in parallel with the course with a therapist accredited by either IACP, BACP, or IAHIP will be accepted.

- G) Assessment of applicants for suitability before being selected onto the course
- H) Certification of having satisfactorily completed the course

Following are minimum course requirements for applicants for accreditation who apply as of and from September 2024:

The course must be awarded not less than 180 European Credit Transfer and Accumulation System (ECTS) for a Level 8 degree and not less than 120 credits for a Level 9 qualification.
- B) Minimum of 120 hours of supervised individual client work. The student's external supervisor must not be a member of the course staff.
- C) At least one hour of Supervision from an external supervisor for every five hours of client contact. In addition, the course must include group supervision once students begin client practice hours (please check Course Accreditation Criteria for the details of external individual and internal group supervision requirements).

D) Minimum of 500 course hours of class contact, including skills, theory and self-development

E) A detailed study of one core theoretical model of Counselling/Psychotherapy with an introduction to other theoretical models of Counselling/Psychotherapy for comparison and contrast

F) Minimum of 50 hours of personal therapy during training

G) Assessment of applicants for suitability before being selected onto the course

As of 12 June 2015: courses may be combined to make up a core course. These two courses must be completed within 5 years of each other.

Annual Re-Accreditation

All Accredited Members and Supervisors must renew their accreditation on annual basis.

There is only one form to be completed for both categories of membership (Accredited Member and Accredited Supervisor).

Continuing Accreditation depends on a renewal application being received by IACP in the first week of the month following the member's renewal month and is subject to current and valid Garda Vetting.

Annual re-accreditation depends on:

- Compliance with the Supervision requirements for Accredited Member / Supervisor
- Compliance with the CPD requirements for Accredited Member / Supervisor
- Recommendation for re-accreditation signed by the Current Supervisor(s)
- Adherence to the Code of Ethics and Practice
- Being an IACP Member in good standing

IACP Accreditation Appeals Procedure

The Appeals Panel

The IACP Appeals Panel comprises of:

- One IACP Executive Committee Member.
- One IACP Accreditation Committee Member.
- One Accredited Member of IACP who is not currently serving on the IACP Executive committee, and who is not currently serving on the IACP Accreditation Committee and who has been an IACP Accredited Member for a minimum of five consecutive years.

The IACP Executive Committee appoints members to the IACP Appeals Panel for a minimum of one year. The Representative of Accreditation Committee is chosen on a rotational basis throughout the year. The member who signed the actual application cannot be chosen for the Appeals Meeting.

Grounds for Appeal

An applicant may appeal to the IACP Appeals Panel if they feel they have grounds to believe that the Assessment Process was not carried out fairly and properly in accordance with the published criteria in operation at the time of the original application for accreditation.

The grounds for appeal should be clearly and specifically stated.

How the Appeal is Assessed

The IACP Appeals Panel will endeavour to meet no later than 6 weeks from the date of the Appeal. The original application for accreditation is read unchanged by the IACP Appeals Panel but an applicant may submit up to 500 words of comments or information pertinent to the reasons stated for rejection.

How to Submit an Appeal

An appeal must be made within four weeks of the notification date of the refused original application for accreditation. The appeal must be accompanied by a fee of €50 (refundable if the appeal is upheld). All correspondence should be addressed to the Secretary of the IACP Appeals Panel.

Decision of the Appeals Panel

The decision of the IACP Appeals Panel is final.

The Accreditation Department will communicate it to the applicant in writing.

Supervision

Supervision is a formal arrangement for Counsellors / Psychotherapists to discuss their work regularly with someone who is experienced in Counselling / Psychotherapy and Supervision.

Supervision is seen by the IACP as vital to the process and ongoing maintenance of a Counsellor / Psychotherapist's competency and continued accreditation.

All IACP Members working as Counsellor / Psychotherapists are bound by the IACP Code of Ethics and Practice to monitor their work through regular Supervision, to ensure that their standard of Counselling / Psychotherapy is competent and continues to develop.

Different membership categories are subject to different supervision requirements.

Acceptable Supervisors

From March 2010, those beginning supervision or current members changing supervisor (i.e. any new supervision contracts) must have their work supervised by a Supervisor Accredited by IACP, BACP, or IAHIP. It is required by the IACP that a Counsellor / Psychotherapist or a Student Counsellor / Psychotherapist should choose a Supervisor who is –

- a) an IACP Accredited Supervisor or
- b) a BACP Accredited Supervisor or
- c) an IAHIP* Accredited Supervisor

(Please note – it is the supervisee's responsibility to check that their Supervisor is accredited with one of the above organisations).

*IAHIP Supervisors must be accredited as IAHIP supervisors prior to January 2025.

Frequency, Ratio and Forms of Supervision

Frequency

Supervision must take place at least once a month when the Accredited Member is actively seeing or available to see clients. If not seeing clients, a minimum of 10 supervision sessions per year will be accepted, (allowing for holidays, illness, bereavements, etc.).

An applicant may add together hours from different supervision arrangements. When an applicant has more than one supervisor, a supervisor's report from each supervisor will be required.

Ratio

The ratio of client work to supervision depends on the Membership Status.

For IACP Student Members the required ratio of supervision is a minimum of one hour of supervision for every 5 client contact hours. This applies for the full duration of the course.

For IACP Pre-Accredited Members the required ratio of supervision is a minimum of one hour of supervision for every 10 client contact hours.

For Accredited members with less than five years of Accredited Membership, the required ratio of supervision is a minimum of one hour of supervision for every 20 client contact hours.

The ratio of Supervision for members with accreditation of between 5 and ten years is 30:1.

The ratio of Supervision for members with accreditation for 10 years or more is 40:1.

For IACP Accredited Supervisors the required ratio of supervision is a minimum of one hour of supervision for every 30 client contact hours (40:1 applies after 10 years of accreditation).

Types of Supervision

(a) One to one supervision

1. Sitting in on the counselling session followed by a review of the session
2. Viewing the Counsellor/Psychotherapist through a window or by video, followed by a review of the session
3. Reviewing sessions using case-notes, verbatim notes or tape-recording of the session and/or

(b) Group Supervision is where a designated Accredited Supervisor takes responsibility for the supervision of two or more Counsellors/Psychotherapists.

The designated accredited supervisor takes overall responsibility for the work of the group, managing the work, writing up supervisors' reports, signing off CPD logs, dealing with Ethical issues and adhering to the IACP Code of Ethics etc., for the group.

To include group supervision as part or all of the supervision requirements, it is necessary that the maximum number in the supervision group is 6 (not including the group supervisor) and:

- A group of 2 meet for a minimum of 1 hour a month (this would be counted as 1 hour supervision for each member)
- A group of 3 meet for a minimum of 1.5 hours a month (this would be counted as 1.5 hours supervision for each member)
- A group of 4 meet for a minimum of 2 hours a month (this would be counted as 2 hours supervision for each member)
- A group of 5 meet for a minimum of 2.5 hours a month (this would be counted as 2.5 hours supervision for each member)
- A group of 6 meet for a minimum of 3 hours a month (this would be counted as 3 hours supervision for each member)

Where group supervision is additional to individual supervision and meets the above group number / time requirements, group supervision hours can be counted towards your total requirements as shown above.

If group supervision is being included towards re-accreditation, a Supervisors' report is required. Therefore, the group cannot be described as a Peer Group.

(c) Peer Supervision only applies to Supervisors who are accredited by either IACP, IAHIP* or BACP. In Peer Supervision, Accredited Supervisors take shared responsibility for supervising and being supervised. The supervisors may rotate leading the group each time the group meet. Any one supervisor can write up the supervisor's report, sign off CPD log etc. for another member of the group. The groups contract will outline how they will operate as a group.

To include Peer Supervision as part or all of the supervision requirements, it is necessary that the peer group meets the time and group number requirements listed in (b) above.

(d) Remote/ online Supervision is accepted for Pre-accredited Members and for Accredited Members and Supervisors who work with clients face to face and/or remotely.

IACP Supervisor who supervises remotely / online, must be competent to deliver work remotely and adhere to IACP Criteria for Remote / Online Counselling & Psychotherapy Work, as well as adhere to IACP's Recommended Approach for Online Counselling and Psychotherapy and follow the IACP Code of Ethics and Practice.

Competence and training:

Competence includes having alternative ways of providing services if the primary method of communication fails, having access to technological support that ensures the confidentiality of the work and keeping up to date concerning any new developments regarding technology being used in order to provide the safest and most reliable service to clients.

Such competence in providing counselling and psychotherapy services and supervision that use technology require formal training.

Training should cover modules such as:

- Different means of delivering online therapy and supervision
- Benefits and risks of online client and supervision work for practitioner and client / supervisor and supervisee
- Legal & Ethical considerations including Informed Consent, Privacy Policies / GDPR
- Future Developments and importance of staying up to date with technology

It is recommended that online supervision is contracted face-to-face and that there is a blend of face-to-face and online supervision contracted when possible rather than only online/ remote supervision, to maintain the benefits of face-to-face contact to build a supervisory relationship.

All other current supervision criteria must be met in order to count online supervision.

Residency Abroad and Supervision

For IACP Members Working Outside of the 32 counties, to fulfil the IACP Supervision requirements, Audio (tele) or Videoconferencing (VC) Supervision can be accepted for the purpose of accreditation/ reaccréditation as long as it is done with the use of a safe medium. The onus is on the IACP Member/ Supervisor to make sure that the medium is secure and all aspects of confidentiality are protected. Also, the IACP Member/ Supervisor must have appropriate insurance cover for such a working arrangement, be aware of the legal requirements of the country that they are working in and adhere to IACP Criteria for Online / Remote Counselling and Psychotherapy (Appendix 1).

IACP - BACP Recognition of Accreditation

As and from 5th November 2016 an agreement is in place between the British Association for Counselling & Psychotherapy (BACP) and the Irish Association For Counselling and Psychotherapy (IACP) on recognition of their respective accreditation schemes. This agreement replaced the previous longstanding IACP – BACP Reciprocity Agreement.

Following IACP AGM Motion 2018, the agreement has now been reviewed to include requirement of minimum 50 personal therapy hours to be completed in training by BACP Members, who wish to avail of this agreement.
